

Position Title: Head of Learning – Visual Arts
Dated: August 2024
Reports to: Director of Academic Development
Prepared by: Director of People and Culture

Position Purpose

This position of responsibility is a challenging and rewarding role that ensures teaching and learning of the learning area is consistent across all years within the College. Excellent subject and pedagogical knowledge are essential, as well as strong organisational and interpersonal skills.

The Head of Learning is expected to liaise with the Academic Executive and other relevant staff.

The Head of Learning is expected to respond to queries from parents and students, oversee all faculty reports and exams and order additions to the faculty professional library. Most importantly, a love of teaching their subject and a desire to support all learners will be paramount. This includes planning a scope and sequence of learning activities across Years 5 to 12, including appropriate assessment strategies.

Position Status

This is a full-time position, commencing Friday 24 January 2025, the new staff induction day.

While the teaching component of this role is permanent, the Head of Learning position is a tenured position for up to three years.

The position attracts several monetary responsibility points and an appropriate teaching load. These are set out in the individual contract.

Visual Arts is an integral and vibrant part of life at the College.

Senior classes include:

- International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme (IB DP), Visual Arts
- Year 10 and VCE units 1 to 4 Art Creative Practice
- Year 10 and VCE units 1 to 4 Visual Communication and Design
- Year 10 and VCE units 1 to 4 Media

Middle Years 5 to 9, classes include:

- Years 5 to 7 compulsory unit of art
- Year 8 compulsory unit of art plus elective offerings
- Year 9 Art electives

Junior School, ELC to year 4 include compulsory units of creative art.

Students of these subjects regularly achieve outstanding results and do exceptionally well representing the College in local and national competitions.

The Head of Learning therefore must have a genuine love of visual arts and be able to share their enthusiasm with students and inspire staff. Excellent organisational and interpersonal skills are essential.

The successful candidate will also have a commitment to an environment where the use of emerging technologies and other pedagogical initiatives are seen as exciting opportunities to enhance learning.

The Head of Visual Arts has responsibility for years 5-12 and also works closely with the Junior School art teacher to ensure continuity of Art across the College.

The successful applicant for this position will be expected to teach and have experience in teaching one of the senior areas of the faculty.

At the conclusion of the tenured period, the College reserves the right to readvertise the role.

The Role of Head of Learning

Any other tasks deemed appropriate in the role.

Key Performance Indicators

Academic Leadership

Heads of Learning are expected to provide academic leadership to their teams as they continue to develop the world's best practices in curriculum delivery. This will include but is not limited to:

- Provision of academic material to develop the professional learning and subject expertise of faculty members
- Leading the implementation of Cultures Of Thinking and facilitating a cultural shift in the way curriculum is delivered
- Heads of Learning will be asked to include Faculty Meeting Agendas and supplementary reading material in their tri-annual review document.

Professional Learning

Heads of Learning will be active members of various professional learning programs including various Leadership Forums, Learning Forums and seminars. In addition, Heads of Learning are expected to support the Innovative Learning Community (ILC) work of their faculty members and keep abreast of the impact that the work of ILCs is having on the practice of their staff.

Use of Data

Heads of Learning are expected to actively engage in the analysis of student data to inform best teaching practice and classroom differentiation. This will include an annual review of IB and VCE results, NAPLAN results and other internal testing data. Heads of Learning will be asked to report on how each team is using data to inform their curriculum delivery and ensure staff are actively using data analytics tools including TrackOne. Specific strategies to improve results based on data analysis should be reported as part of the tri annual review.

Staff Observations

For each semester, Heads of Learning are expected to observe each member of their teaching staff at least twice. Particular attention should be given to early career teachers, teachers new to the College and teachers where concern about performance has been expressed. These observations should be reported as part of the tri-annual review report. Based on these observations Heads of Learning should identify 2-3 staff each semester who will be asked to administer a Raising Student Voice survey with their classes. The results of these surveys will be collated by the Academic Executive Administrator and forwarded to the staff member and Head of Learning to form part of their reflection on practice.

St Leonard's Curriculum Scope and Sequence

St Leonard's College is working towards the development of a Curriculum Scope and Sequence from years 5-10. Heads of Learning will continue to ensure that the curriculum at each year level builds on a set of core subject skills and concepts and allows for appropriate differentiation. Heads of Learning are expected to be informed but not limited by the Australian Curriculum and draw on World's Best Practice Curriculum to inform their curriculum design.

Overview of Teaching at the College

All faculties consist of dedicated teams of professionals who promote individual growth in the academic understanding of their students. They work closely in teams to develop differentiated programs that provide support and extension where needed. A typical lesson will provide inspiration, rigour, and stimulate curiosity and critical thinking. St Leonard's College has a culture of academic excellence which is driven by its motivated staff and supported by students' involvement in other opportunities to supplement and extend their learning beyond the classroom.

The successful applicant will be passionate about teaching and learning and be able to inspire their students. They will know the current research on best pedagogical practices and be able to work in a team, share resources and ideas, and be able to communicate clearly with students and their parents. They will promote a growth mindset and focus on each student's learning pathway, having strategies to determine their entry level and assess what each student needs to do in order to display growth in the student's learning. They will be competent users of technology to support their organisational and pedagogical practices.

Teachers are expected to undertake supervisory duties which are allocated in a roster either before school, at recess, at lunchtime or after school. They are also expected to be involved in cocurricular activities, which may reflect particular skills and interests or as designated by the College. Teachers also undertake pastoral care responsibility. With each of these tasks, it is the practice of the College to share the responsibilities as evenly as possible amongst the teaching staff so that there is no unreasonable load on any member of staff.

All teachers are expected to attend staff meetings and other ad hoc meetings as arranged. It is also an expectation that all members of the teaching staff attend the College's major functions throughout the year.
